Customer Success Story

&+ Andmore Partners

“ We have had break-ins in the past, and if trespassers want to get in, then they want to get in - temporary fencing (like we had) in their way or not. Because of Guardian’s responsiveness though, none of the expensive materials or copper were missing. We will work with Guardian Integrated Security in the future. ”

Jason Chun, General Contractor

BACKGROUND

Andmore Partners is an architectural design studio located in Los Angeles that specializes in master planning, real estate development, and more. The company is extremely busy, often working on several concurrent projects with renowned design studios, as well as planning projects that range in scope. When designs arrive at the implementation phase, the firm is faced with the same challenges all companies in the construction industry face, stemming from inherent risk solutions like temporary fencing. With the cost of materials ever on the rise, Andmore Partners uses security solutions to combat theft attempts.
